

HEALTH ALERT

Gregory Cherpes, MD
ODP Medical Director

December 29, 2022

Easy Care First Aid Burn Cream and First Aid Kits by GFA Production (Xiamen): Recalled Due to Potential Contamination

The Office of Developmental Programs is issuing this Health Alert to bring awareness that GFA Production (Xiamen) Co., Ltd. is voluntarily recalling one lot of Easy Care first aid® AfterBurn® Cream, 0.9 g single-use packets. FDA analysis found the product to be contaminated with Bacillus licheniformis, and Bacillus sonorensis. This recall is to the consumer level.

The single use packets are sold in:

- boxes of 10, or
- packaged in certain First Aid kits.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) recently issued a Safety Communication that provides additional details and information, including guidance for people who have used or have purchased the affected product, and their caregivers. GFA Production \(Xiamen\) Co., Ltd. Issues Voluntary Nationwide Recall of Easy Care First Aid® Burn Cream and First Aid Kits Due to Microbial Contamination | FDA.

If you have used or have purchased one of these affected products, talk to your health care provider to decide on a suitable alternative and discuss if additional treatment is necessary because of using the recalled products. Additionally, please follow the recommendations provided by the FDA.

Where to Learn More:

- FDA: FDA MedWatch - Easy Care First Aid Burn Cream and First Aid Kits by GFA Production \(Xiamen\) \(govdelivery.com\)
- Company Announcement: GFA Production \(Xiamen\) Co., Ltd. Issues Voluntary Nationwide Recall of Easy Care First Aid® Burn Cream and First Aid Kits Due to Microbial Contamination | FDA